6:30 pm—8:30 pm | Great American Ball Park, 100 Joe Nuxhall Way, Cincinnati (gate forthcoming)
NLGA Opening Event – A World Class Welcome at Great American Ball Park!
(pending final confirmation)

(TBD) Event space is large with high ceilings and an outdoor area.

Enjoy a world class welcome at Great American Ball Park! At the intersection of Kentucky, Ohio, and Indiana, Greater Cincinnati is also the crossing of the South, North, and the Midwest. With an amazing panoramic view overlooking the Ohio River and the Northern Kentucky skyline, the Ball Park is home of the Cincinnati Reds, the nation’s first professional baseball team. The Ball Park also sits at the edge of The Banks, the city’s walkable riverfront development which includes a 45-acre park, restaurants, shops, bars, and more. Enjoy an evening dedicated to the unique and surprising urban oasis that is Greater Cincinnati!

Getting there: NLGA will load its bus at TBD and masks are required on the bus. You may also choose to drive (paid parking is available under the stadium), call your own ride share, walk through the city about ¾ of a mile (involves turns), or catch the free City Connector streetcar (catch it about 2 blocks from the hotel and it is a 2 block walk on the Reds end, a slightly longer walk from a different station on the return to the hotel).

Schedule of Activities:
6:30 pm       Arrival – Bar Open – Games Available including Corn Hole – invented in Cincinnati!
6:45 pm       Optional Ball Park Tour (for 40 people total)

NLGA Panel: Are Drones in Your State’s Transportation Plan?
“How To” Integrate Advanced Ground and Air Mobility into Your Transportation Planning
Unmanned aircraft systems and autonomous/connected vehicles technologies are rapidly advancing transportation applications. Ohio recognized they are parallel technologies and created collaborative working teams into a center for smart technology in the Department of Transportation. As a result, Ohio is a national leader in the arena and home to dozens of public and private entities working on autonomous and connected transportation technologies. First, we’ll hear about testing autonomous/connected vehicles in urban and rural settings in Ohio. The 33 Smart Mobility Corridor is a 35-mile, interconnected stretch of road serving as a real-world proving ground for these vehicles, while the Automated Driving Systems project will test connected and automated vehicles may in the state’s rural settings. Then, the Ohio Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS) Center is a national leader in integrating UAS within state operations - so much so that the UAS Center is one of only five entities working with NASA to study how cargo-carrying drones and passenger-carrying air taxis can included in regional and state transportation plans.
